Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The correspondence received by the Senate yesterday from the President relating to Bering Sea

The first communication is from Sir

Julian Pauncefote to Mr. Wharton, under date of March 19, stating that he had received a reply from Lord Salisbury to Wharton's note of the 8th inst.

to the following effect:
Lord Salisbury again points out that the information in possession of Her Majesty's government does not lead them to believe that another year's suspension of sealing is necessary to pre-pension of sealing is necessary to pre-vent undue diminution of the seal herds.

His lordship, however, proceeds to ob-

His lordship, however, proceeds to observe:

Beyond this question it is considered by your Government that they have a right to be protected from the loss they may incur from free sealing this year in the event of their claim to Bering Sea being upheld by the arbitrators. Her Majesty's government does not dispute that after the ratification of a convention there will be some foundation for this contention, but adds that the prohibition of all sealing as aftemedy has this defect: That British sealers excluded from Bering Sea would have undoubted ground of complaint if the British claims were upheld by the arbitrators. Moreover, there is no security that the arbitration will be concluded before the sealing season of 1893. Serious damage would be caused the industry by the suspension of sealing for a long period. In view of all of the above considerations, it appears to Her Majesty's government that it would be more equitable to provide that sealing in Bering Sea shall continue on the condition that the owners of every sealing vessel shall give security for satisfying any damages the arbitrators may adjudge. I shall be glad to learn that the above suggestions meet with the concurrence of your government.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

Linder date of March 29 Mr. Wharton

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY. Under date of March 22 Mr. Wharton

Under date of March 22 Mr. Wharton replied as follows:
I am directed by the President to say that your note of the 19th inst. has had his immediate attention, in view of what he deems the extreme urgency and gravity of the matter. The urgency grows out of the ract that further protraction will make any modus ineffectual to protect the interests of the United States and give Canadian sealers practical immunity by reason of the impossibility of communicating to them the agreed restrictions. It is known to this Government that sealers have scales constitute the larger portion of the catch of the pelagic sealers. That in view of this serious and confident contention of this Government His Lordship should assume that another year's suspension of such sealing is not necessary 'to prevent the undue diminution of seal herds,' and should insist that pending arbitration it shall go on precisely as if no arbitration was agreed upon, is as surprising as it is disappointing.

If Her Majesty's government so little respects the claims and contentions of this Government as to be willing for a single season to disregard them the President cannot understand why Lord Salisbury should have proposed and agreed to give to those claims the dignity and standing which reference to a high court of arbitration implies. From the moment arbitration was agreed upon neither party was at liberty to disregard the contentions of the other. It must be assumed that the sincere purpose of the two governments was to promote peace and good will, but if, pending arbipose of the two governments was to promote peace and good will, but if, pending arbi-tration, either deals with the subject of it iration, either deals with the subject of it solely upon the basis of its own contention, and in utter disregard of the claims of the other, this friendly end is not only not attained, but a new sense of injury and injustice is added, even if it should be found possible to proceed, with an arbitration under such conditions.

GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION.

For it must not be forgotten that if Her Majesty's government proceeds during this sealing season upon the basis of its contention as to the rights of Canadjan sealers no choice is left this Government but to proceed upon the basis of its confident contention that pelagic sealing in Berling Sea is an infraction of its jurisdiction and property rights. His Lordship will hardly fall to see this. Herein, in the opinion of the President, consists the gravity of the situa-

President, consists the gravity of the situa-tion, and he is not willing to be found in any degree responsible for the results that may follow the insistence of either government

treat with seriousness. We should doubtless have to pursue and capture upon the sea many of the owners of those vessels to secure the bonds suggested, and as the condition is to be that they shall pay "any damages which the arbitrators may adjudge," while the treaty gives the arbitrators no power to adjudge any damages, the transaction would be without risk to them and of no value to the United States. This Government cannot consent to have what it believes its rights destroyed or impaired pending a determination by an agreed tribunal, however adequate the security offered.

The reference in my last note to the inconsistency of Her Majesty's government in denying responsibility for the acts of Canadian scalers was not intended to suggest any willingness on our part, under any circumstances, to a use of our property converted into a claim for damages, and particularly as such a claim cannot now be heard or determined by arbitrators without a reformation of the treaty, for His Lordship must remember that while he now offers what he mistakenly calls security for satisfying any damages which the arbitrators what he mistakenly calls security for satisfying any damages which the arbitrators shall have no jurisdiction to award any damages.

As to His Lordship's suggestion that the Canadian scalers may have some claim for compensation if Great Britain restrained pelagic sealing, the President directs me to say that he is not able to see how citzens or subjects of either of the treaty powers can by any rule of law or equity support any claim against their respective governments growing out of such neces. sary trade restraints as governments may lawfully impose to promote larger conditions of the public good and international peace.

British Fleet Ordered to Rendezvous at Esquimault. VICTORIA (B. C.,) March 24.—[By the Associated Press.]. It is announced that Rear-Admiral Hotham, commander of the British Pacific naval station, has cabled orders to Equimalt that the warships Melpomene, Champion and Warspiee will reach Equimalt May 1, two months earlier than previously arranged. The sudden change in the disposition of the ships is taken to indicate a serious phase of the Bering Sea dispute.

the impossibility of communicating to them the agreed restrictions. It is known to this Government that sealers have hastened their departure to escape notice of a possible modus, and every day almost adds to the fleet that must now be overhauled at sea. Already forty-seven Canadian vessels have cleared for the sealing grounds, as against thirty-one at the same date last year, and are engaged in following and destroying the seal herds. These vessels will, if not stopped and turned back at the passes, go into Bering Sea and pursue to the very shores of our islands the slaughter of mother seals seeking the accustomed rookeries to be delivered of their young. This is a crime against nature. This Government expects to show if the arbitration proceeds that the female seals constitute the larger portion of the catch of the pelagic sealers. That in view of this serious and confident congation Committee this morning examined a large number of papers from the official files of the Interior Department. Among them were indorsements and recommendations signed by Senators Cullom and Farwell and Green B. Raum of Examiner Taylor, against ordering the withdrawal of all its heretofore trusted employes from the chamber excepting Secretary McCook.

The Foreign Affairs Committee reported through Mr. Sherman, recommending the ratification of the BeringSea arbitration treaty. Mr. Sherman pointed out the advantage to the United States from a ready acquiescence in the per writer, who wrote articles intended to injure him (the commissioner.)

Speaking of having asked for the retirement of Gen. James Dugan from his position in the Pension Office, the witness said Dugan had made a remark to the States from a ready acquiescence in the submission to arbitration and how Great Britain by a refusal of the modus vivendi would be placed in an unenvi-able light. Mr. Sherman also reported a resolution from the committee in the a resolution from the committee in the nature of an indorsement of the attitude assumed by the President, and in sub-stance assuring him of the support of The discussion was free from jingo ism, but revealed a quiet determination on the part of the Senate to maintain the dignity of the Nation and protect its rights. There was no belief that war would result from the present en-tanglement, and for a second time this session there was expressed the idea that, as Great Britain appeared to be that, as Great Britain appeared to be stopped from acting according to her own best interests and principles of common justice through deference to the sentiment of Canada, it would be well to administer to the latter a lesson by the withdrawar of that priceless concession, the privilege of free shipment the Senate.

The President will hear with regret that Her Majesty's government continues to assert the right to deal with this subject precisely as if no provision had been made for a settlement of the dispute; and in that event this Government, as has already been pointed out, will be compelled to deal with the subject upon the same basis, and will use every means in its power to protect from destruction or serious injury the property and jurisdictional rights which it has long claimed and enjoyed.

State Secrets Allowed to Leak Out—The Arbitration Treaty Ratified,

WASHINGTON, March 24 .- [By the As-of products and goods through the United States. No action was taken today on the subdegree responsible for the results that hay follow the insistence of either government during this season upon the extreme rights claimed by it. In his opinion it would be a discredit in the eyes of the world to the two great governments involved if the paltry profits of a single season should be allowed to thwart or even disturb the honorable and friendly adjustment of their difficulties so nearly concluded; but if His Lordship shall adhere to his refusal to unite with us in prompt and effective measures to stop pelagic sealing, and shall insist upon free sealing for British subjects, are question as it effects this Government is no longer one of pecuniary loss or gain, but one of honor and self-respect.

This Government, notwithstanding that its right to take seals upon Pribylov Isl, ands is undisputed and wholly uninvolved in the arbitration has proposed to take no profit from the island catch, but limit the taking of seals to the necessities of the Indications are, however, that, after further discussion, the treaty will be ratified. Any idea of the complication being used as a means of affecting political issues was negatived by the attitude of the Democratic Senators, who, if possi-ble, were more ardent than their Repub lican colleagues in arguing for the most hearty support of the Executive.

The President finds it dimcult to believe tended not only to the Bering Sea, but this Government shall take separate bonds from the owners of about 100 Canadian sealing vessels to indemnify it for the injury they may severally inflict upon our jurisdiction or property, and must decline to discuss a suggestion which only his respect for Lord Salisbury and his belief that His Lordship has due appreciation of the gravity of this discussion enables him to tion of the vessels this year will be ex-

BRITISH SENTIMENT. The Situation Regarded as Critical—More Talk of Political Buncombe.

LONDON, March 24.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Press comments on President Harrison's reply to Lord Salisbury regarding the modus vivenda are generally of the opinion that the situation is becoming critical, though nothing worse than a deadlock is looked for. The general impression is that the President's attitude is nothing more than an election appeal to those voters who love to see Great Britain insulted. The Daily News, referring to the correspondence, says: "There is much force in Wharton's objection that the damages are unrecoverable from indi-viduals. Cannot Lord Salisbury pledge our credit for any fine imposed? If America objects she might be invited to put it the other way by pledging her-self to pay for the luxury of prohibi-tion."

The Times says: "The possibility of complications is causing uneasiness among members of the Commons. If the modus vivendt is not restored it is believed that America will hurry menof-war to Bering Sea and sweep off Canadian sealers." The Times, in a leader on Bering Sea, may lawfully impose to promote larger conditions of the public good and international peace.

The suggestions that the conclusions of the board of arbitration may not be reached and announced in time to govern the conduct of the parties during the season of 1893, as the Président thinks, is fully provided against by the treaty itself. If the present treaty is promptly ratified and exchanged our mutual interests would be an absolute guarantee against delay. The President has found no obstacle in the way of such consummation except the belief now unfortunately prevalent here that the refusal of Great Britain to agree to the preservation of the status quo of the property during arbitration, and her insistence that pelagic sealing shall go on to the injury, if not destruction, of our rights, largely defeats the objects of the treaty.

The President directs me to say, in conclusion, that the modus of last year is the least this Government can accept in reason. The restraints, after a treaty of arbitration, should be more absolute, not less. He does not desire to protract this discussion, and having now in a most friendly spirit submitted fhe considerations which support the just demand of this Government that the property which is the subject of an agréed arbitration shall not be subject to spoilation pending the arbitration, he expresses the hope that Lord Sallsbury will give prompt and friendly assent to a renewal of the modus.

The President will hear with regret that Her Majesty's government continues to assert the right to deal with this subject pre-

It is to the credit of the American people that they have not responded to the noisy protests of their public men. It is remarkable, after so many years of experience, that the party leaders still deem it profitable to beat the big drum on every possible occasion and ask other nations, especially Great Britain, to tread on the tail of their coat. We fail to understand the meaning of the American reply that damages cannot be recovered, because if the proposal is accepted England will be bound to recover them and refund them to America. On the other hand, if the decision is adverse to the American claim, as most people acquainted with international law expect, there will be no means, as matters now stand, of securing compensation for the injury done to British sealers by a suspension of fishing, while a renewal of the interdict will cause much heavier losses.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—[By the Associated Press. | House.—The galleries were again packed when the silver debate was resumed today and there was a very full attendance on the part of members. Mr. Bland announced that he would postpone the motion for the previous question till 5 o'clock in order to give an opportunity for greater de-

Mr. Williams of Illinois, Democratic member of the Coinage Committee, opened the debate in favor of the bill. Mr. Williams elicited great applause when he exclaimed, "The unit of value is a creation of the law and the power of declaring what shall constitute the unit of value in the United States is vested in Congress alone!" He critiicized the administration for working against the bill and predicted that if the measure passed the House the adminis-tration would exert all its mighty influence to force gold to a premium, creating trepidation to prevent like action by the Senate.

In a sharp passage at arms which now ensued between Mr. Wike of Illinois and Mr. Williams, the latter maintaining that the silver coin of Europe is already at a par with gold, and that the United States is capable of taking care of the bullian wat was included.

taking care of the bullion yet uncoined.
Mr. Cockran of New York, a well-known Tammany leader, opened for the opposition to the bill, which he vigorously attacked. He nevertheless com-plimented Chairman Biand's report, and declared he had no patience with Mr. Harter, who had said: "I credit Mr. Harter, who had said: "I credit him (Mr. Bland) with gross ignorance as the only excuse for his attitude." Mr. Cockran said that, while disputing the conclusions of the bill, he desired also to dispute the statement of Mr. Harter. If there had been ignorance displayed upon the floor it had not been displayed by the gentleman from Missouri. The thrust at Harter was greeted with applause and Mr. Cockran continued his speech at length.

Mr. Cockran was followed by Mr. Cummiugs of New York, who said that his constituents were opposed to the bill

Cummiugs of New York, who said that his constituents were opposed to the bill and he would, therefore, vote against it. Mr. Dingley of Maine also spoke in opposition to the bill, saying that its effect would be to give the silver mine owners of this Nation $21,000,000 annually more than they are now receiving for their product. In addition to this our mints would be flooded by silver imported from abroad silver imported from abroad.

Mr. Hatch of Missouri made a strong party speech in favor of the bill, announcing that he was in favor of making the bill a matter of party fealty.

He told Mr. Williams of Massachusetts that he did not know the first principles of Democracy, and when Mr. Williams select if he was readiled him asked if he was readiled him asked in the way. from Kansas (Mr. Simpson) for the gen-tleman from Massachusetts, and if an-other swap were wanted he would take in the erring young Democrat from Georgia (Mr. Watson) and throw over another Massachusetts mugwump.

Mr. Williams having asked if Mr.

Hatch could refer him to a Democratic platform that ever declared for free silver, Mr. Hatch replied: "When you want the Democratic platform you will get it from Democrats, and not from men whose swaddling clothes have not been off for a week or a month or a year." [Great laughter.]
Mr. Loud of California said the first and most potent reason why he should vote against the bill was that in the platform of the Republican party there was engrafted a plank against the free coinage of silver. Furthermore in the laws of his State, in the obligations of almost every country and in all notes and contracts were provisions making them payable in gold. To assume that the people of California were in favor of the free coinage of silver would be to assert that they were a living lie. He remembered when as a mechanic he had to take his $100 a month in silver and exchange it at a loss of $0 before paying the butcher and baker.

Mr. Bartine of Nevada, leader of the

Mr. Bartine of Nevada, leader of the Republican free coinage men, made an able and comprehensive speech, reviewing the fiscal policy of this country and Europe on the silver question during the past century and combatting the arguments against free silver. Mr. Bartine did not pretend to believe that everything abnormal in the social and industrial conditions of the day had as industrial conditions of the day had re-sulted from silver demonetization. Neither did he claim that its remonetization would convert the American continent into a terrestrial paradise and fill the land with Utopian bliss, but he did believe that its general result would be all in the line of benefit; that it would encourage enterprise and lead to the more even distribution of wealth. E. E. Taylor of Ohio, in the course of his speech, expressed surprise that Mr. Hatch had declared that the repeal of the act of 1873 was the greatest in the fame of the century and that it was done by the Republican Congress and Republican President. Mr. Hatch

Mr. Smith of Illinois deprecated consideration of the measure from a party standpoint, and said he should vote against the bill. Mr. Butler of Iowa closed the debate by saying that when the act of 1873 had brought the farmers into a condition of suffering, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Taylor,) a millionaire, arose with a comical substitute, added insult to injury and mocked the farmers in their suffering. Mr. Bland then demanded the previous question.

Mr. Burrows moved to lay the pend-

When the clerk completed the recapitulation the Speaker rose and announced the result, but before doing so directed the clerk to call his name, and then availed himself of his right and cast his vote in the negative amid the deafening applause of the advocates of the measure.

Mr. Bland, not aware that the Speaker's vote had saved his measure from immediate annihilation, changed his vote from the negative to the affir-mative in order to have an opportunity to move a reconsideration, but being advised in a moment that the motion was defeated by a tie vote again change

Motions to adjourn, to take a recess, to adjourn till Saturday and adjourn to Monday were all voted down, and then Mr. Bland stating that it was evident no fair vote could be taken tonight, moved an adjournment, which motion was carried at 12:35.

The Silver Bill now goes on the calendar, but it is probable the Committee on Rules will, at an early day, report a resolution for further consideration.

New York's Accused Judge.

ALBANY (N. Y.,) March 24.—Judge Maynard's case came up in the Senate today, Senator O'Connor offering a long preamble and resolution regarding Maynard's action in connection with the Dutchess county case and setting forth that it is believed by many citizens that his appointment as Judge by the Governor was in the nature of a re-ward for his wrong ful and unlawful act. This was, on motion of Mr. Canter, carried by a party vote and a resolution adopted providing for an inquiry by the Judiciary Committee.

BASEBALL

The Los Angeles Team to Arrive from San Diego Today.

Manager Glenalvin and his "Angels," fresh from recent victories at San Diego and Riverside, will arrive in Los Angeles this afternoon and will immediately prepare themselves for the great struggle on Saturday afternoon with the San Francisco club, opening the championship season of the California championship season of the California League amid a blast of trumpets and music galore. The people of Los Angeles will have their first opportunity of seeing the local club play, and an excellent attendance is assured. The several opinions of the northern managers on the relative strength of the clubs have been published at length, and in every instance the opinion that the local club will be in the race seems general.

The Guessing Contest The Times prize of a season ticket, worth $40, to be given to the person who guesses the correct score of Sunday's ball game, means that there is out one prize ticket, and in view of the but one prize ticket, and in view of the fact that more than one person may guess the correct score it is understood that in case two or more correct ballots are received they will all be placed in a box and the ballot which is drawn out by a disinterested person will entitle its sender to the season ticket as stated. East Whittier lands are selling fast; Or by and by you'll bemoan your fate.

. UT, wiping the tears from your eyes when your chances are all gone, will do no good, and the wise man who bought in time will have little sympathy for you then. So avoid such a contingency, come to East Whittier; buy while good chances are to be had. A great many acres will be set out in trees on the tract this season, and improvements are going merrily on. We are offering the lands very cheap now on the start; they will be higher soon. Such lands at Redlands or Riverside are bringing $400 to $600 per acre, simply because they have a start, though it is pretty hot there in the summer time. But at East Whittier you can get the see breeze every day; no need to go to the beach to keep cool, but if you want to take a dip you can drive over to Long Beach in less than two hours. There are few such locations in Southern California.

Dr. Jessup with his gig, or Reed with his horse Nig, Will show you the tract and give you a free ride.

You can come to Sante Fe Springs at 8:30 on the Santa Fe, and get back to Los Angeles at 1:20. Drop a line to Dr. JESSUP, at Whittier, a day or two ahead and he will meet you at the train. Write him for full particulars, or to

THE BLACK WON.

La Blanche, the "Marine," Meets His Waterloo.

Defeated by Childs After a Hot Contest of Eight Rounds.

Hard and Furious Fighting from Start to Finish.

The White Man Out-fought at Every Point -La Blanche Badly Punished--Finally Wound Up on a Foul.

George La Blanche, the once famous Marine," has again suffered defeat at the hands of Frank F. Childs, the local colored middle-weight, a comparatively "green" pugilist, whose sensational feat of knocking out the "Marine" in three rounds a few weeks ago was believed to be an accident.

The fight, which took place in the gymnasium of the newly-organized Pastime Athletic Club, on North Main street, in this city, was for a purse of $750 at catch weights. Fully 500 enthusiastic admirers of the "art defensive" witnessed the event, which was generally conceded to be one of most interesting of its kind ever held in the city, and, although it was somewhat marred by the viciousness displayed by La Blanche at the finish, it will long be remembered in the annals of local pu-gilism. That Childs proved himself .a better man than his more renowned antagonist was proven beyond the shadow of a doubt.

The event was preceded by several lively set-tos between a number of more or less clever boxers, and, as the crowd arrived early, the directors of the club very wisely hurried matters up, so that at shortly after 9 o'clock everything was in readiness.

At 9:27 o'clock Frank F. Childs stepped into the ring, followed by Prof. Billy Shannon, Young Elwood and Tom Jones, and took up his position near the reporters' bench. Three minutes later George La Blanche appeared, attended by Billy Maber, Jack Manning and Henry Peppers. Each was given a rally both on entering and after their rally both on entering and after their formal introduction. The latter, who weighed about 170 pounds, appeared to be in first-class trim, though still a trifle paunchy, but his legs, arms and shoulders were splendidly muscled, and he looked so much like a winner that some of his admirers offered $50 to $35 on him which was promptly late. $35 on him, which was promptly taken up. Childs seemed to be much the same as when last he appeared in public, ex-cept that his legs were in somewhat better shape.

The time-keepers were Tom Rodman, for the club, Frank Phillips for La Blanche, and Tom Darmody for Childs. While the men were donning the four-ounce mittens Referee Mort Curran made a little speech. It consisted of two words, addressed to the principals, as follows: "Fight fair." Time was called at 9:37 o'clock.

Time was called at 9:37 o'clock. First round—The men advanced cautiously to the center of the ring, and Childs' awkward style as they sparred for an opening created a great deal of merriment, as he appeared to be grabbing at imaginary files some three feet in front of him. Suddenly; however, he went in with a rush, and, jabbing his opponent with his left in the jaw, clinched. After the breakaway, Childs again rushed and landed a half-arm swing on the Marine's ear with his right, but, missing a heavy left swing, right, but, missing a heavy left swing, clinched again. A few seconds later Childs again rushed in and landed heavily with both hands, receiving only one blow in the stomach in return, and the Marine went to his knees, remaining there for six seconds, when the round closed. Childs was enthusiastically cheered as he went to his corner.

Second round—Childs resumed hostilities at the start, rushing in and landing his right. During the clinch which fol-lowed the Marine showed a disposition lowed the Marine showed hissed him. to be mean, but the crowd hissed him. Childs landed a crushing right on the Marine's jaw; but the latter retaliated with a terrible hot drive as he came again, and, as Childs missed a left swing, La Blanche downed him with a company and its bondholders on the one part, and the holders of the drive mortgage bonds of the cable company on the other, and transmitted company on the other, and transmitted company on the other, and transmitted company on the other. swing, La Blanche downed him with a right swing on the jaw. The colored man was up again like a cat, and rush-ing in rained blow after blow on his opponent's face and neck, staggering him.
The round closed with the men at close

Marine's corner.
Third round—La Blanche's face began to show signs of the punishment he had received, but Childs was as fresh as ever when they came up again. The latter rushed, landing with his right, and clinched. A hot exchange of right swings on the jaw was followed by a rush by La Blanche, who landed on rush by La Blanche, who landed on Childs' neck, staggering him. Just as the round closed the latter rallied and again smashed the "Marine" with both hands repeatedly, getting away without rushed in and biffed him time and again with both hands. At the call of time the "Marine" played "groggy." Fifth round—Very little done. There was a spirited exchange of hot swings at close quarters, about the middle of the round, but both men lacked steam. Childs jabbed his left into his opponent's mouth at the end without return. Sixth round—Childs was the fresher of the two, when they came up. He of the two, when they came up. He landed his left on the "Marine's" nose and his right in his wind, getting away just in time to avoid a wicked swing. The "Marine" renewed his dirty tactics in the clinch which followed, and was hissed. His opponent tried to get in again, but was stopped with a terrible drive on the chin. He rallied, however, and, as before, rushed the "Marine" to the ropes and hammered him with both hands, just before the call of time.

Seventh round-La Blanche, who was Seventh round—La Blanche, who was evidently waiting for an opportunity to get in a knock-out blow, failed to take advantage of the only really good opening afforded him, as Childs missed a vicious right swing and turned round like a top. George landed a hot left swing on his opponent's chin, however, soon afterwards, but the colored man washed in and hearing down the Mountain and hearing down soon afterwards, but the colored man rushed in, and, beating down the Marine's guard, smashed in with both hands until he tired. Both men were clinched at the call of time.

Eighth round—Childs came up strong and fresh and started in with the evident intention of puting his man out; but La Blanche clinched and adopted his foul tactics again. This order of busi-foul tactics again. This order of business was kept up for over a minute, and it was merely a question of time with the "Marine," as he ceased to ward off his opponent's blows entirely, merely clinching to avoid punishment. Finally La Blanche, seeing that he was licked claimed that Childs hit him on the shoulder, and grabbing him round the waist threw him down and kicked him. Childs, though severely hurt, jumped up quickly and grasping the "Marine" with his huge arms in a half Nelson lock, he suddenly jerked his opponen into the air and flung him several feet away. By this time the ring was full of officers, however, and, although the excitement was intense, Referee Curran announced that he had decided to award the fight to Childs on a foul, a decision which met with general satisfaction.

San Francisco Capitalist Gives the Facts About the Proposed Agreemer and How it Failed to Go Through.

A well-known San Francisco financier. who is now in the city, and who is in a position to be thoroughly posted about tric companies, was interviewed yesterday in regard to the present status of the case, and he stated it as a positive fact that the agreement is off, as has been heretofore stated in THE TIMES. Some weeks ago, said the genlleman, negotiations were entered into for the practical consolidation of the two companies. The holders of the first-mortgage bonds of the cable company and the electric bondholders were to sursolidated bonds were to be issued, the interest on which was to be issued, the interest on which was to be paid for two years and a half in advance in bonds, the issue to be increased for that purpose. The holders accordingly pooled their bonds, and the California Bank of San Francisco, as trustee for the cable recone drow una agreement. the cable people, drew up an agreement as the basis of the transfer. The agree-ment was submitted to James G. Fair and the Pacific Rolling Mill Company as representing the electric interests for their approval. They declined to ratify the agreement as presented, and in turn drew up an amended agreement, turn drew up an amended agreemant, which was submitted to the California Bank. In the meantime, however, said the gentleman, the cable people had their eyes open, and when the amended agreement was submitted they declined to ratify it, as has been stated. The gentleman further stated that, in his opinion, negotiations were off, and he did not think they would be resumed. The cable people have resumed. The cable people have learned a good deal in the past few weeks, and from his knowledge of the matter he did not think any other proposition will be submitted. Efforts have been repeatedly made recently to place electric bonds in San Francisco, but so far they have been unsuccessful, as no one seems disposed to take hold of them.

INTEREST ON ELECTRIC BONDS NOT PAID. The statement has been made that the electric company defaulted on the interest on their bonds, which was due on the 16th. This statement has been denied by the officers of the company, but the fact remains that the interest has not been paid to that date, at least so far as Los Angeles holders are con-cerned. J. D. Bicknell, Esq., who is a large holder of electric bonds, was seen by a Times reporter last evening, and in answer to the direct question as to whether he had received his interest, cisco, and the bonds are still there. quently I have not presented the interest coupons due for payment.

Judge Bicknell stated that he only spoke for himself and did not know what other holders had done.

From other sources it was learned that the interest had not been paid, and the reason given was that the coupons had not been presented, the larger portion of the bonds being pooled. Whether the interest would have been paid had the coupons been presented cannot, of course, be stated, although no one could be found who would have refused to receive the money had a ten der been made.

CONFIRMATION FROM SAN FRANCISCO. SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—[Special.] S. G. Murphy, president of the First National Bank, was seen with reference to the Los Angeles cable road matter, and said that the statement that the bonds were payable at Senator Fair's bank he knew to be incorrect. He ad-

Why Judge Lynch Presides

It is stated that more murderers have been lynched in the United States in the three months of 1892 than in any full year preceding. This testifies to one of two things: Either the communities in which these lynchings took place are becoming more lawless, or public confidence in the efficacy of legal practice is rapidly failing. Every instance in which an indignant populace take the law into their own hands and execute a supposed criminal is not only a reproach but a defiance of established methods of jurisprudence. If the lynchers are punished the law is vindicated and in a certain sense, emaintains its prestige. If they are not punished, as most often proves the case, the courts are scandalized and reduced to a plane ridicule and contempt.

It needs only the popularization of lynch law to a certain extent to render courts and forms of legal procedure obsolete and contemptible. This amounts to a waiver of one of the most important functions of government and the adoption, instead, of an archy. We wonder if those shrewd gentle men of the law who turn heaven and earth to help a client escape the penalty of his misdeeds, even when they know he is guilty, ever stop to think of the result of popular reaction against their methods. We wonder if the jury of dunderheads who allow lawyers to pull whole fleeces of wool over their eves and induce them to say that white is black and black is white have any conception of the fact that they are undermining the whole system of the law and relegating it to contemptuous disuse. We wonder if the juror who from ulterior motives, "hangs" a jury and defeats the ends of justice, stops to think that he is treasuring up wrath against the day of wrath for his country? We wonder if the complaisant judge upon the bench who allows so much hairsplitting in the construction of law that the real spirit of law is lost sight of ever dreams that some day he or his children may appeal to the law for pro tection and find no law left? It is all well enough to deprecate mob violence, but we should not blind our out new growth and soon will hide with eyes to the fact that there is some ina green mantle every trace of the un- centive for such outbreaks, and, until we reach the causes, we cannot hope to accomplish much with effects. There ing winds show few blossoms, and the are two principal incentives which generally actuate people who take the law calities will be light next season. But into their own hands. First, great indignation over some accomplished crime; second, a distrust in the ade quacy of law to properly pun-ish the criminal. If every community could feel assured that criminal would be properly dealt with by a court, and punished as the law provides, there would be few lynchings. As few communities have confidence in the just outcome of legal processes, they are the more ready to give way to passion and seek summary vengeance on a law-breaker. Legal jugglery has got in its work unhampered for a long time and may for a long time to come but every instance in which it succeeds in defeating the ends of justice and equity only adds to the force of the reaction which may some day sweep the whole fabric of jurisprudence aside to inaugurate a better or to bring in its place a state of anarchy. It is said that during the past year ninety murders were committed in San Francisco, and only one murderer was hanged. If the courts are unable to work up to a closer margin than that the existence of the death penalty becomes practically a dead letter. It would be much better to have it repealed than to allow it to remain as a constant mockery of the statutes-a good intention which is never kept. We cannot avoid the belief that, as legal practice is drifting more and more into chicanery and pettifoggingas the standard of the bar is being lowered by the undisputed presence of attorneys who are known to be blacklegs and law-breakers-as the character of the bench feels the effect of this lowered standard-matters will go on getting worse and worse. The less con fidence in the law, the more lawless ness, the more lynchings. The less resort to law as a means of securing jus tice, the less use for law; and by and by people will begin to wonder why presented for study. It is a fact that mild deprecations ont he part of the press, and spasmodic efforts at vindicating the law, accomplish no good. What is to be done? Shall we continue our deprecations and le matters drift? Or shall we attack the real source of the evil, which is the mal administration of law?

Head Works and Things.

Ex-Councilman Collins, in a communi cation to the Herald on the water ques tion, makes some very conservative suggestions as to how the city should dispose of the matter. But the key note of his communication, the one which will meet with general public in dorsement, is: "At all events we wan no schemes. Neither do we want any head works or other unnecessary outlays until we first acquire this system,' meaning the plant of the City Water Company. Mr. Collins is right in this. It the city does not acquire the existing water plant it does not require 'head works'' of the kind which the schemers are demanding, and if the plant is acquired it has all the head works needed. But there is one important question which overshadows all others in connection with this agitation of the sub ject of water supply and that is: "Does the developed water at Crystal Springs belong to that company?" The company has developed over 1200 inches of water, and if it owns it the city can only acquire it by purchase at a price which the company will accept or through a condemnation suit. Water is valued at $1000 per inch, withou dams, mains or pipes The Council has assumed that the city owns the water (an assumption not in dorsed by lawyers,) and has instructed the City Attorney to bring suit against the Crystal Springs Company to recove the value of water sold to the City Wa ter Company as well as to enjoin the Crystal Springs Company from its further use. No advantage can accrue to the city by delaying the settlement of those this question. The city should press it to an early trial if the City Attorney believes that the city has good fighting ground. If he does not, the suit should be dismissed. There is, and has been, a general misunderstanding regarding the position of the City Attorney in many matters. The Council suits brought, and when the ders loses the blame is laid to City Attorney, when in fact should rest upon the Council. But in this case, involving millions of dollars to the city, to the people-a case upon which all future action upon the water question depends-there should be no delay nor trifling. Any pretense that the city is not ready to have the case tried should not be heeded. All the facts are known; no new ones can be made because the conditions are fixed and have been for several years.

On the other hand, if the City Attorney does not believe that the suit can be successfully prosecuted it should be dismissed, for the city has no right to cast a cloud upon the title to the property of any individual merely to force that individual to dispose of property at a less price that would otherwise accept than for it. This suit is a cloud upon the title to property which the company desired to mortgage in order to obtain money to make improvements absolutely demanded by the growth and size of the city. . It cannot be that the public is willing that the plant of the City Water Company should stand as it is until 1698; and it must remain so if the company cannot borrow the money to extend it-for the stockholders will not advance money to improve a property which they hold by an uncertain title, as this suit makes it. The demands upon the water company for extended service are like demands upon man to write with his hands tied behind his back. The people are not unjust or dishonest, and their representatives should not try to put them in a false position. Let us have the end of this matter, one way or the other.

While the over-musical may cavil at Balfe and assert that The Bohemian Girl is but a collection of songs and ballads, there is no more popular creation in all the range of grand opera, and, while its airs are hackneyed, it is only because of their beauty and tunefulness that they have become so; but if the composer had only made the first act a trifle more fraught with melody he would have done still better.

Emma Juch was "Arline" last night in all the witchery of short skirts, a beautiful face, graceful acting and a voice that was as mellow and rich and beautiful as a flood of sunshine on a field of yellow popples. She sings so truly and so easily that the listener sits in rapt enjoyment with the comfortable and pleasurable feeling that she warbles because of the very love of it, and when she sang "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls" and the interpolated ballad of "The Last Rose of Summer" last night it was in a manner that brought the dampness into the hearer's eyes and made him think of the holy cadences of a mother's lullaby.

A number of documents written in cipher were found in the possession of an Anarchist arrested today. The officials discovered a key to the cipher and gained a confirmation of the story which the Journal des Debats published. When the man was arrested he was seeking employment as a servant in an aristocratic family which had incurred the hatred of the Anarchists, and had sentence of death pronounced upon them. CAPT. DICK'S STORY.

The Strange Mission of a Cana dian Scout.

H's Seath for a Rich Silver Mine Near Los Angeles.

The Vell Located and a Number of pecimens Secured.

What the Diary of an old Prospector Found with His Skeleton in the Olmpic Mountains, Revealed -A Strange Narrative.

Capt. Ick, one of the most famous Government scouts in the Northwest since the lel war in Canada, is visiting Los Arcles on a most romantic mission. In August of last year Capt. Dick was I the Olympic Mountains near Lake Cushian, in Washington, when he take Cushian, in Washington, when he found the seleton of a man.

"From a appearances the man had been dead a number of years," said Capt. Dick b a Times reporter yesterday afternon, "but my curiosity caused me to examine the bones of the unfortunate; and strange as it may seem, I made a most inguiar discovery."

made a mostringular discovery."

The captal then went on to tell how he raked around in the dirt under the bones and found a tin or sheet-iron can that had rustil to such an extent that it was as tin as tissue paper, and when he picked it up it crumbled to pieces.

It contained an old yellow diary and a map, but both were so dim from age that it took some time to decipher them. As near as the captain could make out the dead man was a prospector, and in 1850 he and five other prospectors left Soutlern California for the north. They pospected all the way up the coast, and at various points way up the coast, and at various points they found some good claims. In 1852 they reached the Olimpic Mountains, and the dead man, the called himself Jack, and his five impanions had a quarrel and he went off by himself.

From his little dary it is believed that his five companions came back to California, but he was so struck with the Lake Cushman jountry that he remained there. His liary is written up to 1854, when it eids, and the captain is of the opinion that he died from starvation and exposure in that year. His blankets, clothing and everything except his tools haf rotted, and the tools, including a prospector's kit, were in such a condition from rust that nothing could be done with them.

The most important part of the find

The most important part of the find is a map of a mne in Southern California about 100 miles from Los Angeles. nia about 100 miles from Los Angeles. The map showed plainly where the mine was located, and from notes, etc., accompanying the map, it is believed that the mine is the richest silver mine ever discovered in Southern California. The prospecter went on to state that he had some of the rock assayed in San Francisco on his way to the north and it went $78 to the ton on the surface.

The vein is eleven miles long and from eighteen inches to three feet wide, from eighteen inches to three feet wide, and croppings show that it is very rich at every point. The prospector stated in his diary that he had sunk a shaft sixty feet in the center of the vein, and from all indications he considered it one of the richest silver mines ever discovered on the coast, but he was looking for gold and thought he would leave it alone for a few years, as there were no prospectors to speak of in this section at that time. that time.

Capt. Dick had considerable business

Capt. Dick had considerable business to attend to at the time he found the skeleton and could not get away until a few weeks ago, when he and a young man named J. C. Grader, who was raised in Los Angeles, started south.

They arrived here last Sunday, and Monday morning they started for the lost mine and returned to this city yesterday afternoon. Capt. Dick had in his possession a lot of rock, showing that he had not been unsuccessful in his search for the old miner's find.

"I found the mine," said Capt. Dick,

his search for the old miner's find.

"I found the mine," said Capt. Dick,
"just as described on the map, and I am convinced that it is much richer than the old miner ever dreamed when he deserted it to look for gold. I have brought in a lot of rock and have placed it in the hands of an assayer and will know how rich it is in a few days. If it turns out to be what I believe it to be
I will go to New York at once and arrange to work it on a big scale."

assistance is most timely, as it is understood that the widow was without sufficient means in hand to reach her home. Such generosity on the part of these gentlemen only goes to show of what splendid stuff the officers of the army are made. As a class they always meet every emergency in the most manly and generous way. The value of this help can be better under-stood when it is stated that the Cap-tain left four interesting children, the oldest being only 6 years of age.

los Angeles. Cai., Feb. 11, 1892.

After suffering for years with stomach trouble I was at last induced to try Dr. Wong Him. of No. 630 Upper Main street. Los Angeles. He examined me and pronounced my trouble tumor in the stomach. After two months 'treatment, during which time I felt greatly relieved and benefited, he pronounced me entirely cured, and from that time to the present, which is four months, I have not felt the least return of my old trouble. I am able to eat many things which formerly would distress me very much. Therefore I feel that I can do nothing else than to recommend the doctor to all who can be induced to try him. I hereby extend him my most heartfelt thanks for his services to me. Charles Edwin Thornes, No. 217 South Honnie Brae street.

Of doubt about it. This house is increasing in trade at a tremendous rate. From the first day of January up to the present time the increase has been at the rate of $1000 a week, or $52,000 per annum, Ask any one of our old salespeople and they will tell you their department is far ahead of last year in sales. Ask any one on the street and they will tell you the crowds are larger than at any time since the boom. and why is this? Our salespeople have all been engaged with the understanding that they must pay more and better attention. They must show goods with greater freedom and endeavor in every way to make the patrons of the house feel more at home than in any other house in the city. The stocks are larger; they are greater in variety, newer and fresher, and they are all sold at a uniform, moderate profit.

It's a legitimate medicine that's purely vegetable and perfectly harmless—a powerful general, as well as uterine, tonic and mervine, renewing and invigorating the entire system. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

For periodical pains, weak back, bearing-down sonsations, nervous prostration, and all "female complaints" and irregularities, "Favorite Prescription" is a positive remedy—the only one that's so sure and certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Numerous inquiries have been made as to the distribution of the pamphlets just issued by the Board of Trade. The work is an expensive one, and the committee composed of M. H. Weight, W. U. Masters, T. P. Lukens and M. E. Wood—under whose direction it was arranged—has issued an explanatory statement in regard thereto. In the circulation of the work lies the secret of its success, and the books are intended for Northerners and Easterners and not for Pasadenians, except to send to their friends, especially those seeking informa-tion concerning Southern California.

The committee states that "the secretary of the Board of Trade will be prepared to take the name and address of those to take the name and address of those to whom any citizen wishes a copy sent and will see that they are properly mailed. The real estate firms of this city will take from fifty to 100 copies each to facilitate distribution. A number will be placed with the hotels for the tourists, which will be taken East. A large number will be sent to the Boston office of the Raymond & Whitcomb Excursion Company, also to the Southern California permanent exhibit rooms in the Rialto building, Chicago, which is in charge of B. C. Truman. The committee assures the people of Pasadena that every effort that can be made to insure a quick and effective distribution of the pamphlets will be carefully attended to, and the citizens generally are requested to keep the same object in view in order to make every copy count."

A lady who has traveled extensively con-ributes the following flattering tribute to

"The ascent of Mt. Wilson and view from its summit gives more satisfaction than either Mt. Washington or the White Mountains, Grey's Peak of the Rockies or the Rhigi of the Alps. At the first named, although a carriage road is occasionally used, an incline railway is the one generally favored by tourists, for which you pay well for the privilege, namely, $12 round trip from the base.

"An incline road, the model of the one up Mt. Washington, with the grade in some places one foot in four, carries you to the summit of the Rhigi of the Alps. You can there feast your eves upon views of snow-capped peaks with green pasture sides, dotted with grazing sheep, with here and there, as it were, "hung out" a little chalet.

"Grey's Peak, said by some to be the high-"The ascent of Mt. Wilson and view from

'Grey's Peak, said by some to be the high-

"Grey's Peak, said by some to be the highest of the Rockies, was reached through sad experience over a dangerous trail, in many places so blocked by snow as to render it aimost impassable, and when I stood upon the lofty pinnacle I was at such an altitude that in one sense the view was lost.

"Mt. Wilson is reached by an easy trail and when there one seldom loses a good view. We left the base among green fields and orange groves and at the summit we struck a regular northeaster' in the shape of a snowstorm. The next morning a covering of snow lay upon the ground and every shrub and tree was encased in crystal. As we walked over to Mt. Harvard we seem to be floating upon a sea of mist, which, as the rays of the sun penetrated it, a grand transformation scene began. Peaks came into view and cafions and plains, gradually dissolving into the Pacific, lay visible at our feet.

With a railway to Mt. Wilson tourists can have access to its views at all seasons, and, although on account of the large boundaries of the State one cannot catch a glimpse of neighboring sisters. "you can gain a blending of ocean and mountain, valley and plain, which is unsurpassable anywhere."

A MOUNTAIN ZEPHYR.

Quite a windstorm prevailed in the Quite a windstorm prevailed in the mountains early yesterday morning. The disturbance was heard by several Pasadenians, although no unusual zephyrs prevailed here. A glance at the camps above Rublo Cafon, where some workmen, interested in Prof. Lowe's new mountain road, had pitched their tents showed that the wind had wrecked havoc. Through Pete Stell's powerful glass Thad Lowe's frame shanty, with several of the tents, could be plainly seen deposited promiscuously some distance down the mountain, blown thither by the force of the gale. Stock subscriptions to the pavilion are being liberally taken, and it is stated that surrounding towns will also subscribe There is probably no better evidence of the steady increase of business in our locality than the tact that the busi-ness of the postoffice of this city has been steadily and substantially increasing from month to month the past year until its inst., will contain interesting facts about Colton.

A. M. Pullman states in reference to the article published in The Times of the 23d that the article is false in one way. The lady mentioned in the article, he says, is his wife, and she was at the nume at the time stated, but not with Rev. Thomas Rogers. He was with her himself. They went down for a walk, and, as stated, "sat on the river bank." Mr. Rogers, he says, is an old and respected friend of the family, and he deems it but just that the charges made against him in, the article referred to be refuted, as they are groundless in every particular and more the work of spite on account of his zealous and good work in ousiness is now sufficient for it to be made an office of the second class. Postmaster Nourse is to be congratulated, as with this change the office will pay him $100 more per year than it has formerly paid. As a third-class office the postmaster received but $1900 per year and the assistance of one clerk, while as an office of the second class it pays a salary of $2000 per year, furnishes three clerks, fuel, light and stationery.

EJECTMENT SUIT.

The ejectment suit of Harlin vs. the The ejectment suit of Harlin vs. the Santa Ana and Westminster Railroad Company, brought up in the Superior Court yesterday, resulted in a judgment for the plaintiff, the findings being as follows: First—Plaintiff was owner of the street subject to the easement for street purposes, and second, that defendant, the Santa Ana and Westminster Railroad Company, entered without right and ousted the plaintiff by building a railroad along the center of the street. It was further found that the plaintiff was not estopped by his acts from maintaining the action of ejectment. The judgment was that the plaintiff recover possession of the street, subject to its use for street purposes. It is understood that the case will be carried to the Supreme Court. Other ejectment suits have been filed and if the decision of the Supreme Court is not reversed by the Supreme Court the other cases will be pushed and the road, therefore, prevented from entering the city on this street.

The most exciting event that has hap-pened in this city for some time was the ad-vertised balloon ascension and parachute jump by Prof. Harris, which was to have jump by Prof. Harris, which was to have taken place from the corner of Center and Los Angeles streets yesterday afternoon. At 2 o'clock the balloon was in place and the fire started to inflate it with hot air. About a thousand people had gathered in the vicinity, some in vehicles, some in the streets, on the sidewalks, and many even having perched on the tops of the two-story buildings, and all watching the proceedings with evident interest. Suddenly, as the balloon was about half inflated, the flames were seen to issue through the top, and in a balloon was about half inflated, the flames were seen to issue through the top, and in a twinkling the big canvas burned loose from the ropes and came to the ground a mass of flame. A gust of wind had blown one side of the canvas against the chimney inside, and before it could be straightened out it had caught fire. Hally Schumacher, a boy about 15 years old, who was inside the canvas to look out for the fire, was caught by the failing canvas and burned and scratched considerably about the face, but got out without serious injury. The outcome of the affair was a keen disappointment to the large assemblage, as also to Prof. Harris, whose loss is about $200. The professor stated that he was having another balloon made, and will give the ascension at a later date.
